

Tanner Fred Portfolio

This portfolio page will display some of the game design work done by Tanner Fred.

This goal of this portfolio page is to present the work of Tanner Fred in a way that is not only presentable to employers but also could be used as an example for other people looking to make a portfolio. This page will display some of the better work done by Tanner Fred in hope of getting hired by a major game design company.

Thomas, 41

Thomas is an employer of a game design company who is looking for game designers to hire at his company for his upcoming game. He can use this website to see if this work is something he would want as a contribution to his company.

Ashley, 20

Ashley is a student at a major university and wants to know if her work is on par with other people coming out of college going into the game design field. She can use this website as a comparison to her own work.

Justin, 25

Justin is an independent game developer looking for new people to work with on an upcoming project. He can use this page to see if this work is something he could use as inspiration or if he would want that person on his team.
